OPENING OF THE INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION
and
CONTEST PRIZE-GIVING
Chieri, Saturday 19th May 2018

PREFACE

The city of Chieri, on the occasion of the twenty-year of the Civic Collection Trame d'Autore, promotes the third edition of the international Young Fiber Contest for young artists under 35.

The need to hold a competition dedicated to Fiber Art and to the textile language inside contemporary art, became a commitment for the Municipal Administration of Chieri, a city with an ancient textile tradition, which has been engaged for years in projects dedicated to the enhancement, development and acknowledgement of Fiber Art itself, revised through its historical and contemporary lenses.

The competition is connected to the mission belonging the Collezione Civica Trame d'Autore, born in 1998 alongside the homonymous Biennials, with the aim of registering and documenting the most striking readings of the fibres language. The competition is dedicated to Marialuisa Sponga (1942-2015), international exponent of Fiber Art and whose numerous artworks are exhibited in the collection, it finds itself an unedited possibility thanks to the support of her husband Giancarlo, who strongly believed in the role played by the City of Chieri within this culturally high-profile artistic sector, which is still poorly investigated in Italy.

WHAT IS FIBER ART?

Fiber Art developed in the Seventies, most of all in the USA and in Europe – explains the director of the Prize and artistic director of the exhibition, Silvana Nota – It represent one of the most fascinating and cultured influences of the researches linked to the post-avantgard and linked to tests of unusual fabrics in the poetical- artistic expression, whose path has continued until nowadays with extraordinary freshness and unexpected innovative results. The number of artists that use heterogeneous materials, weaving them in loom or off loom, and conceptually identifying in the manual skill a theoretical choice of their conceptual communication, is increasing.

ARTICLE 1) PARTICIPATION

The Competition is dedicated to young Fiber Artists or Visual Artists under 35 years old, who, even if not identifying themselves with the historical movement are required to use the textile medium and the flexible element in their artworks, attributing a conceptual significance to their works, which is not given by an executive causality but by a research centred on a chassis or the most independent off loom, in order to precisely represent a poetic choice.

Participation to the competition is free of charge.

ARTICLE 2) DEADLINE

The registration deadline is 12th February 2018.

Any registration application sent after the deadline or any incomplete dossier (intending the collection of materials needed for the jury's appraisal) will not be taken into consideration.
